

Pablo Asensio, EUFRAS Board member

Born in 1974, Pablo Asensio holds a diploma in agricultural engineering and a postgraduate degree in adult education. He is adviser method trainer, teacher, agricultural economist and environmental expert. He is a member in the international network of agricultural consultants IALB and as such elected member in the EUFRAS board since 2013. From 2007 to 2013 and after again since 8/2019, he has been working mainly as a skills trainer at the State Leadership and Management Academy in Landshut with a focus on professional training for the advisory service. 2013 he worked at the State Ministry for Agriculture in Munich, 2014-2019 at the Government of Lower Bavaria and in the Regional Office and Agricultural College Landshut. He lectures Extension Methodology at the University of Applied Sciences Weihenstephan-Triesdorf.